LIBRARY

OF THE CITY OF BALTIMORE

PART IV

M–R

BALTIMORE
1889

Press of Isaac Friedenwald,
Baltimore, Md.

NOTE.

This volume, M—R, the fourth in the catalogue of the library of the Peabody Institute, contains 1212 pages and 88,255 references. The number of references now printed amounts to 280,459. The most difficult, the most laborious, and perhaps the most important analysis contained in this volume is that of the various collections of the Abbé J. P. Migne, the contents of which occupy 25 pages, the subject-references, amounting to many thousands, having been distributed throughout the entire catalogue. Several persons were engaged, at different times, in analyzing these volumes, and some idea of the great labor expended on this catalogue may be obtained from the fact that the united labor of these persons was equivalent to the continuous work of a single person for two years. A similar work has been performed for the great Thesauri Antiquitatum—and their supplements—of Graevius, Burmann, Gronovius, Sallengre, and Polenus. It is believed that none of these great collections has ever before been analyzed, and the contents, under appropriate heads, made accessible to scholars. The Monumenta Germaniae Historica, the great collections of Muratori, of Bouquet, of the Villani, and of many others, have been treated in the same way. As this is pre-eminently a scholar's library, the object has been to place within the easy reach of students the information, the learning, and many of the obscure but important facts buried beneath the mass of materials of which these vast collections are composed.

One volume more of about the size of this will complete the alphabet; but a sixth supplementary volume will be required to complete the references partially entered in the principal alphabet. The library now contains 100,000 volumes, or 27,000 volumes more than it had when the printing began, in 1881, and all these volumes have, as far as possible, been entered in the catalogue.
